CALL FOR PAPERS

51st Clinical Aphasiology Conference

Papers of all types welcome!

Authors are encouraged to consider publishing their research presented at the 2021 Clinical Aphasiology Conference in a special issue of the American Journal of Speech-Language Pathology.

KEY DATES

SEPTEMBER 17, 2021: Submissions Received
JANUARY 17, 2022: First Decisions to Authors
MAY 1, 2022: Author Revisions Submitted
JULY 15, 2022: Second Decisions to Authors

All final decisions will be made by September 16, 2022

Interested?

Submit a letter of intent to guest editor, Dr. Duff by July 1, 2021. Include:
• Draft title
• Abstract

ABOUT THE JOURNALS

AJSLP is independently published and available as a member benefit to the more than 218,000 members and affiliates of the American Speech-Language-Hearing Association.

Available in libraries and other institutions worldwide, the ASHA journals are key components of the ASHAWire publishing platform.

PLATFORM FEATURES

Related Article Recommendations
Responsive Design for Mobile Devices
Topic Collections
Embedded Multimedia

Figshare Repository for Supplemental Material
Open Access Option
Automatic Deposits to PubMed Central
Social Media Promotion

View Full Submission Instructions on the ASHA Journals Academy academy.pubs.asha.org

Guest Editor: Melissa Collins Duff
Contact info: melissa.c.duff@vanderbilt.edu
Publication Date: February 2023

AJSLP IMPACT FACTOR
1.486 (2019)
1.861 (5-YEAR)*

*2019 Journal Citation Reports® (Clarivate Analytics, 2020)
 For eligible articles